The principal conferee hitch was on tax relief for corporations. The Senate says repeal the excess

U. S. AND RUSSIA GETTING CLOSER ON MAIN ISSUES

Harriman and Stalin Talk Over Problems at Red Premier's Resort

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Oct. 27.—(P)—Conversations between U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Generalissimo Stalin concerning a communication President Truman sent the Soviet leader have led to developments which may have an important bearing on future collaboration among the Allies, it was learned today.

Harriman was received by the Soviet leader at a vacation resort in the Black Sea area, and discussed with him at length mutual problems.

This was the second time Truman has had Harriman go directly to the Soviet leader with matters affecting the two nations. The other occasion was after the death of President Roosevelt.

The U. S. ambassador's visit to Stalin at the Black Sea resort of Sochi also confirmed that the generalissimo was not seriously ill, as had been reported in some sections of the foreign press. Stalin is ready to return to Moscow soon.

Truman's letter to Stalin, dated October 14 and presented ten days later, was the basis for two conversations the ambassador had with the Soviet leader. Harriman returned to Moscow yesterday.

Confirmation of his visit to Stalin and of the state of Stalin's health came about after this correspondent addressed a communication to Foreign Commissar Molotov.

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Don't be surprised if the next thing is a bubble party. Or has it arrived, with youngsters blowing bubbles at pedestrians up and down the Main Stem? Who starts such fads, anyhow? Let there be more, for people need escape from the effects of other and sadder globular bursts in the air.

Speaking of these inoffensive, multi-colored spheres that provide a chuckle even when one bounces on the minister's nose or the teacher's glasses, is this nation aware of the fact that the children of today have grown up without having had the fun of playing with toy balloons? Toy balloon manufacturers went to war. Their products became vital in meteorology and for other requirements of the armory forces. Also, dunce caps and other foolshirts for banquets quickly quit the scene.

It's refreshing to welcome back the legerdemain of bubble-blowing. Oldsters remember the white clay pipe once used for the pastime, now supplanted by a scientific gadget. Maybe that will return, too, and enough soap. Present bubbles are made of new and different mixture. In any case, here's to bigger and better bubbles.

If you don't believe motorists are going places, regardless of tire shortages, how about this:

While waiting for the green light at Main and Court Streets, I saw a New York car roll through, followed by one from Kentucky, another from Indiana, and a fourth from Pennsylvania.

I don't know whether the car ahead of the New York car was from out of state, or what followed the Pennsylvania car, but I saw four out-of-state cars together in the "big parade."

That reminds me that since the war ended there has been a gradual increase in the number of cars with out of state licenses.

A surprisingly large number of these are driven by soldiers and their wives, with the rear part of the auto filled with personal belongings.

Remember Dr. W. P. Edmunds? He was a captain in the first World War and several Washington C. H. men were in his company. After the war — and having heard so much about Washington C. H. — he came here and entered the practice of medicine. Then he went to Cleveland where he became a staff physician and personnel director for a big industry. Came another war and he wanted to serve again; so he accepted the place at the head of the War Manpower Commission there. He always had a good sense of humor and a hearty laugh. So much for a sketchy background . . . A little piece in "Main Street Meditations," a column by Eleanor Clamage in the Cleveland Plain Dealer tells of a little episode I know he must have enjoyed. And, I think his old friends here will too. Here 'tis in substance:

Dr. Edmunds was working in the yard of his home when he got to talking to a man washing the windows of a house next door.

They chatted for a while, each busy with his own work, and then Dr. Edmunds asked his companion what he was making.

"That's more than I make," he chuckled in reply — and went right on tending to his yard.

Later, Mrs. Edmunds came to the window and the man washing the windows of the house next door said to her: "Hey, lady, you ain't paying that man enough."

1946 MEAT SUPPLY NOT TO BE LARGER

Farmers May Receive Less For Meat Sales

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(P)—Consumers can expect at least as much meat in 1946 as in 1945, but farmers may receive "moderately lower" returns from sale of meat animals, the Agriculture Department forecast today.

The meat supply in 1946, the department said, is likely to balance demand at the 1945 level of wholesale and retail prices.

This means, the department explained, that even if price ceilings are removed the general level of retail prices probably will be about the same as in 1945.

The expected removal of subsidy payments to slaughterers not later than June 30, 1946, may result in some decline in cattle and hog prices.

The department predicted somewhat greater pork production.

SHOE COST INCREASE MAY BE DETERMINED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(P)—Higher prices for shoes may be in the offing.

The OPA shoe advisory committee will meet here Tuesday, October 30, to consider new price scales for shoes, the office of Rep. Adams (R-NH) said today.

Scores of protests have been received by New England congressmen from shoe manufacturers who say they cannot remain in business unless they get relief from the OPA's pricing policy.

Adams learned the advisory committee may recommend a substantial boost in prices, particularly in the low-end lines.

BOMB WARNING OF DOOMSDAY

Archbishop Says International Organization Is Answer

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(P)—Unless controlled by an international organization, the atomic bomb is "the handwriting on the wall," foreshadowing fulfillment of Biblical prophecies of the end of the world, the Most Rev. Dr. Cyril Forster Garbett, archbishop of York, said today.

"Our statesmen must create some international organization to whose hand the secret and manufacture of these bombs may be entrusted," the archbishop wrote in his November diocesan letter.

He said the international organization "must control such overwhelming force that it could retaliate at once on any nation that attempted to decide an issue by a sudden attack on its adversary."

"The Biblical declaration that the end of the world will come suddenly," he said, "is driven home to us with fresh meaning: 'The heavens shall pass away with a great noise and the elements shall melt with fervent heat; the earth also, and the works which are therein shall be burned.'"

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27.—(P)—An unidentified man, fishing from a breakwall, drowned after he and a companion rescued Frank Dobos, 69, another fisherman who was swept into Lake Erie by high waves. The two rescuers were washed into the water and the one drowned. Dobos helped the other to safety.

EX-CONVICT IS BEING HUNTED AFTER DEPUTY SHERIFF SHOT

NEW LEXINGTON, Oct. 27.—(P)—A posse headed by Sheriff Clair Butts searched this section for a former convict today after Deputy Sheriff Herbert Minshull, 75, was shot to death while trying to make an arrest.

The sheriff said Minshull was shot last night when he and another deputy, David Moore, attempted to serve on Thomas Davis a warrant charging assault and battery.

Davis, whom the sheriff described as a former inmate of Ohio Penitentiary, disappeared.

KEEP BIG NAVY NIMITZ URGES

Admiral Speaks at Navy Day Luncheon

HONOLULU, Oct. 27.—(P)—Fleet Admiral Nimitz urged the United States to retain its "birth-right" of strong seapower in the Navy Day message to the nation today.

The commander in chief of U. S. sea forces which destroyed Japan's fleet said in an address prepared for delivery at a luncheon in his honor, that it was seapower that strangled Japan's industries and finally led to her defeat surrender. He added the defeat of the enemy maritime nation provided America a "classic lesson."

"Without seapower we cannot ensure our children the fruits of that victory tomorrow," Nimitz said.

Nimitz yesterday praised the home front's "magnificent support" of the Navy in wartime, and declared a powerful sea force "supported in the same loyal fashion" would be essential in maintaining peace.

POLITICAL ROUTINE UPSET BY TRUMAN

New York's Leaders Are Received on Train

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(P)—President Truman upset the routine of New York political figures today by having them in to his special car in Pennsylvania station for an 8 o'clock breakfast.

Edward J. Flynn, Bronx Democratic leader and former Democratic National chairman, arrived about 7:30 and remarked he could not recall having been up so early in his life.

Other sleepy-eyed New Yorkers followed him into the president's car, where they talked first with Robert E. Hannegan, present national chairman and postmaster general. These included William O'Dwyer, Democratic candidate for mayor and Paul Fitzpatrick, of Buffalo, New York state party chairman.

VOYAGE IN A BARREL PLANNED BY CANADIANS

SYDNEY, Nova Scotia, Oct. 27.—(P)—Two Canadians who hope to cross the Atlantic in a 10-foot barrel plan to set sail at the first break in the weather.

Mark Charlton, 29-year-old toolmaker, and Peter Olson, 62, Norwegian-born sealer and sailmaker, estimate the trip will take 40 days.

The barrel is constructed of heavy oak staves, fitted with a heavy keel and has a brief superstructure.

Seward identified them as Lester Adkins, 18, and Marion Price, 19.

FIGHTING SHIPS AND MEN COME BACK FROM WAR

President in New York for Celebration—All Major Ports Join Welcome

(By the Associated Press)

Her ports crowded with warships and skies filled with triumphant Navy planes, America today celebrated the exploits of the Pacific and Atlantic fleets and gave thanks for the victory they helped win.

All along America's coastlines, millions crowded aboard famous war vessels riding proudly in home ports after months and years of battle. Spectacular displays of air power were planned, with 1,200 planes in the New York celebration, alone.

At San Francisco, the battleships South Dakota, Alabama, Wisconsin and Indiana rode at anchor, with the carriers Yorktown and Bon Homme Richard and other fleet units. Two hundred Navy planes and a fleet of blimps were to soar over that city during the day.

An Honolulu, the Pearl Harbor Navy yard—scene of the Japanese sneak attack—was opened to civilian visitors for the first time since Dec. 7, 1941.

Los Angeles planned a parade of 15,000 and a huge spectacular depicting the signing of surrender terms by the Japanese aboard the battleship Missouri.

Visiting warships were anchored at Miami, Jacksonville, Tampa and Pensacola in Florida; Mobile, Ala.; Savannah and Brunswick, Ga.; New Orleans and Charleston. Many cruisers observed the day in their proud "namesake" ports—the Portland in Portland, Me., and the Savannah and San Diego in their respective "homes."

TRUMAN LEADS TRIBUTE

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(P)—President Harry S. Truman, radiating his famed Missouri grin, came to New York today to lead the city and nation in a day-long tribute to the world's greatest fighting fleet—the United States Navy.

Making his first visit to the east since becoming chief executive, Mr. Truman got off his train at Pennsylvania Station at 10:20 A. M. (EST) a little more than three hours after his arrival.

A brilliant autumn sun shone as the president—at the head of a victory motor caravan—headed for the New York Navy Yard in Brooklyn to commission the great supercarrier Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Other highlights of the president's Navy Day program include:

A parade along lower Broadway, signing the city's official register at City Hall, a speech on foreign policy in Central Park, luncheon aboard the carrier Missouri, and a review of 47 battle-scarred warships arrayed along a seven-mile stretch in the Hudson River.

At the station to greet him were Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, and Edward J. Flynn, Bronx Democratic leader.

The sun was just breaking into a cloudless blue sky when the train arrived.

Guns a-bristle and battle banners flying, the vessels stretched from the shadows of mid-Manhattan skyscrapers, up to the full length of Riverside Drive, and to Spuyten Duyvil to receive the tribute of the nation they helped bring to victory.

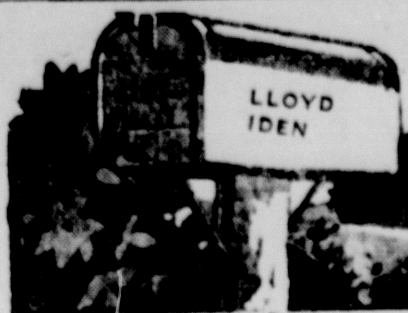

After commissioning the 45,000-ton supercarrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, the president planned to tour 25 miles of city streets and review a parade by 2,000 marching Navy men and women.

At Central Park, he was scheduled to make a speech described by his press secretary as the most important he ever made. It was to be his first major address on foreign policy.

Aboard the battleship Missouri, the president had a luncheon date with Vice-Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander of the Atlantic fleet.

Millions were lining New York's Riverside Drive and New Jersey's palisades to see the commander-in-chief, aboard the battle-hardened destroyer Renshaw, inspect the 47-ship armada in the Hudson from 3:30 P. M. (EST) to 5:30.

For The Farmers Of Fayette County

USO EXTENSION HEAD TO SPEAK AT FB MEETING

Annual Session Is Slated November 9 in Memorial Hall

H. C. Ramsower, director of the Ohio State University extension service, will speak on "Farmers Face Postwar Adjustments" at the 26th annual meeting of the Fayette Farm Bureau November 9 at 8 P. M. in Memorial Hall.

The program of the meeting also includes a report of Farm Bureau group, hospitalization insurance by M. G. Griest, district insurance agent; remarks by Margaret Watson, home demonstration agent; by A. F. Ervin, president of the county Farm Bureau and by Art Hoversland, district organization manager of southwest Ohio.

Music also is planned for the program—group singing directed by Miss Mary Elizabeth Brown, a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Max Morrow and other musical numbers.

Rev. W. S. Alexander will pronounce the invocation at the meeting.

An important part of the business session will be election of officers for 1946. Delegates to the state annual meeting, November 14, 15 and 16 also are to be named. This year the county organization is entitled to four delegates, one for each 250 members. The membership here is 757.

The committees for the annual meeting are: resolutions, Walter Sollars; Glen L. Smith, A. F. Ervin, Delbert Morris and Ralph Niesky; nominating, Glenn Smith, Glenn Griffith, Homer L. Wilson; membership, Percie Kennell, R. C. Belt and Glen Griffith; program and arrangement, Percie Kennell, Mrs. Loren Hynes, W. W. Montgomery, Glen L. Smith and Mrs. Harold Mark; dining room, Verne Wilson, W. W. Montgomery, Miss Margaret Watson, Bill Thompson and R. C. Belt; reception, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooper, A. F. Ervin, Beryl Cavine, Jerry Nessell, W. S. Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Griest.

Refreshments and square dancing on the third floor of the hall are scheduled after the meeting in the second floor auditorium.

SHOWERS CAUSE WHEAT TO COME UP QUICKLY

Rainfall the past 10 days has resulted in the wheat coming up rapidly and making good growth. So far approximately 90 percent of the wheat has been sown, but some will be planted early in November, as the corn ground is freed of the corn.

The acreage will be considerably below normal, due to lack of room on corn ground where corn could not be removed in time.

SMALLEST PUMPKIN CROP IN MANY YEARS

The pumpkin crop in this part of Ohio was the smallest in a great many years, and as a result canned pumpkin may be at a premium before another crop is available.

The Fayette Canning plant has completed its pack, and it was the smallest on record.

Buy War Bonds and Stamps

HORACE GREELEY'S famous remark, "go west, young man," was taken to heart by Ray D. Gilbert of Warnerville, Me., when he packed up his wife, nine cows, an iron bed, a bedroom suite, a kitchen suite, a 1938 coupe, one ton of hay, one-half ton of grain, food supplies, hay forks and milking stools in a box car and started for Merced, Cal. Maine's cold weather caused Gilbert to suffer from asthma, thus the trek across the country. Photo above was taken as the entourage entered the last lap of their trip. (International)

Fayette County Shepherd's Club

The University of California with J. F. Wilson directing experiments to produce a better wool product has recently imported some Australian Merino sheep. They are being used in this fall in crossbreeding tests with Ramboulliets. Mr. Wilson believes this cross will produce some outstanding results.

The Rambouillet is larger and has a better body conformation, while the Australian Merino produces a better fleece. One hundred head of the Merinos have been imported in three different shipments. This cross breeding is being tried out only in eleven of our western states at present, where it is presumed it will be most popularly received.

Another experiment in process at present is more closely associated with the shepherds of Fayette County. It is the experiment being conducted at Iowa State Experiment Station on silage-fed lambs. It was learned that lambs fed on silage gained nearly ten percent more than lambs fed on hay ration and were appraised at fifteen cents a hundred weight higher.

Each of the pens of one hundred western lambs were started in December, 1944, and weighed 74 pounds each. They were fed 100 days. One group of lambs were full-fed shelled corn twice daily, with all the silage they would eat in the morning and a full feed of Alfalfa hay at night. One-fifth pound of protein supplement and one-third ounce of a mineral mixture per head were spread over the silage daily.

The other lot of 100 lambs were full-fed shelled corn twice daily, but alfalfa hay was substituted for silage and the protein supplement was reduced to one-tenth a pound per lamb daily. The mineral was entirely omitted. The daily gains per head on the silage fed lambs was 4.11 and on the second group without silage 3.75 pounds per head daily. The silage fed lambs brought $15.95 and the non-silage fed lambs $15.80 per hundred.

CONSERVATION OF SOIL SOUGHT IN COMMUNITY

Second Meeting Held Here With Many Attending The Session

The second county-wide important meeting on the organization of a soil conservation district was held at the office of County Agent W. W. Montgomery.

J. A. Slipper, soil conservationist, Ohio State University, met with 17 men who represented the Grange, Farm Bureau and the sponsoring committee.

Slipper reviewed the Soil Conservation Act passed by the legislature in 1931 and answered questions on the services that farmers could expect to obtain from forming a soil conservation district.

Slipper mentioned the work of soil and water control with emphasis on drainage projects.

A tour was planned for the first half of December to visit the work of the soil conservation district in Clark County, where major emphasis is being given to drainage.

The name decided on was that of Fayette Soil Conservation District and the territory to include all of Fayette County.

Any county desiring to form a soil conservation district must secure the signatures of at least 75 land owners, and then petition the State Soil Conservation District for a hearing. More than 25 petitions were taken out and signatures will be secured during the rest of October and all of November.

USE POULTRY LIGHTS TO BEST ADVANTAGE

Delaying Illumination Is Recommended Here

Delaying use of lights to stimulate egg production of pullets until November 1 to 15 Fayette County farm women were advised by specialists in poultry husbandry who say that the exact time when extra light will help most is determined by the time the pullets were housed, the current rate of egg production, and the condition of the flock.

They explain that lights are unnecessary for the pullet flock if the poultryman has been able to secure a 60 to 70 per cent production rate without them. The lights are a stimulator and their effect should be kept in reserve until needed to increase egg production.

There is an exception to that rule, however, because the lights may be needed in late October to prevent a slump in egg production of early maturing pullets which have been laying for several weeks. Lights can be used to start pullets which mature so late their natural production season would begin after egg prices dropped.

Experts believe that either dim lights left on all night or brighter evening and morning lights can be used, whichever is most convenient for the poultryman. An automatic switch will be needed to control morning and evening lights, and a switch which will last many years can be bought for a few dollars.

Specialists recommend one 40 to 60-watt bulb for each 200 square feet of floor space when lights are used morning and evening. A 15-watt bulb is adequate for the same amount of floor space with all-night lights. A reflector which throws light on roosts and floor is important.

The first coast-to-coast network broadcast was a Rose Bowl game, January 1, 1927.

CORN HUSKING MOVES RAPIDLY

Pickers Busy Throughout The Community

Corn husking, from the stalk as well as from the shock, is moving forward rapidly in the community with a great many farmers having picked their corn early so they could sow the corn land to wheat.

Pickers throughout the community are being kept busy, and recently seven farmers from the Jefferson Township went to Wisconsin and brought back seven corn snappers to be used in harvesting their corn as well as that of their neighbors.

Packers have been hard to get, where early frosts had made it impossible to use the snappers, and bought the equipment, trucking it back to their farms and placing the machinery in operation at once.

Husking from the shock was started recently, and will be pushed, although about 25 percent of the entire crop is all that was placed in the shock this year.

SOYBEAN HARVEST IS NEARING COMPLETION

The soybean harvest in Fayette County is about 90 percent complete, according to reports, but it will be sometime in the early part of November before the harvest is finished.

Yields for the most part have been good, or about double that of last year.

On the Farm

By Thomas E. Berry

CLEAN FENCE ROWS

I just slowed down the car to look more closely at a farm that had all of the fence rows clean; even those on the outside of the road, along the fence. That's the kind of farming I was taught to do, and it was the kind of farming that was done in the community; you'd almost lose your standing as a good farmer, if you didn't keep your fence rows in many southern Ohio communities. Now it is the usual thing to see many "dirty" fence rows in many southern Ohio communities.

If you are closely in touch with farming, you know the reason, in most cases; it is a shortage of labor. I think now of a 220 acre farm on which all of the work is done by the owner and his wife. They even combined their own wheat and oats this year, and put it into the granary. The man drove a tractor that pulled the combine and his wife the family car with a trailer behind it, on which the grain was loaded.

The fence rows were not mowed on this farm at the time of my visit, but they are mowed now. Having the fences straight and doing this work with a mowing machine, is the method that they use, although they haven't found time to cut the small amount of weeds, left close to the fence.

If one can do no more than mow the fence rows with a mowing machine, they won't back the operator back like they have done on many southern Ohio farms; sometimes compelling him to cultivate the land several feet back from the fences. If you let such fence rows grow a few years, you have a big and a very expensive job on your hands.

THAT REMINDS ME

Abe has just done a thing that justifies me writing about him again. (Abe is a fox terrier beagle hound cross pup at our house, already well known in southern Ohio, through accounts of his accomplishments in this column.) A few days ago Mrs. Berry set a trap on the back porch, near a hole that a rat had recently made and sometime in the night the trap went off, but there was no rat in it.

The next morning Abe (Please Turn to Page Three)

FROSTED PASTURE NOT GOOD FOR COW

Good Hay and Silage Feed Is Recommended

Seasonal slumps in milk production in the fall are partly due to many cows being in the last part of their lactation period; but C. L. Blackman, specialist in animal husbandry, Ohio State University, claims great quantities of potential milk are lost because farmers are too busy with field work to remember that frost bitten pasture grass is not a good dairy cow ration.

Few Ohio pastures provide enough feed in late October to maintain high milk production, so Mr. Blackman advises feeding good hay and silage to make up the lack of roughage. Grain feeding is desirable to balance the ration and to provide nutrients in a palatable and efficient form.

Another drawback to the fall pasture season mentioned by Mr. Blackman is the liability the cows will be exposed to bad storms. Cold rains and snow flurries cut milk production down to a mere trickle if the cows cannot find shelter. The quality of milk from contented cows may not differ much from that produced by their discontented sisters but the quantity surely is reduced.

The University specialist also points out that milk production in 1946 may be considerably affected by the way dairymen handle heifers which are due to freshen before the next pasture season. Short fall pastures do not provide feed enough for these heifers so the specialist advises running them with the cows which are getting supplemental feed.

District AAA Meeting To Be November 9 Here

Harry Silcott, chairman of the Fayette County AAA Committee, said today a series of district meetings will be held in Ohio during November 1 to 13 for the purpose of discussing the new Agricultural Conservation Program for 1946. AAA county committees from all counties, who will be in attendance at these meetings, will be informed of their responsibilities in fitting the program to the farms in their respective counties, he added.

The meeting for this district (No. 7) will be held in the basement auditorium of the AAA office November 9, 1945, and will include representatives from Adams, Brown, Clark, Clinton, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Highland, Madison, Pickaway and Ross Counties. Albert C. Koehler, district fieldman and also a representative from Washington, D. C., will be here for the meeting, Silcott said.

It is felt that this new procedure will allow the county and community committeemen more freedom in establishing a plan of operation based on the conservation needs of the individual farm. Silcott added that under the proposed program no formula will be used to determine individual farm allowances as was done in the past. Instead the farmers and local AAA people will recommend that a certain amount of money is required to carry out needed practices on the several farms.

County allocation of funds will be the limiting factor in the extent of practices approved for payment in any county.

WORLD TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

We shall have a fair idea a year from now whether we are headed for peace or for another war—but let none doubt that the intervening months are filled with perils.

Blunt notice of the dangers was given yesterday in Leeds, Scotland, by Britain's distinguished former foreign minister Anthony Eden. He declared that the terrible warning of the atomic bomb "has failed to produce any healthy consequences," and continued:

"The nations are not joined closely together. Unhappily, the tendency is rather in the reverse direction. The world unquestionably is in very grave danger. We need cool, calm and understanding leadership."

Simultaneously another noted figure, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, told an Ohio Teachers' convention in Cleveland that if the big nations fall out, the security of all nations is in jeopardy, and he added:

"Peace is not being negotiated with Germany and Japan. They have been defeated, and await the kind of peace that the victors establish. Peace is being negotiated with Great Britain and with Russia."

"Unity can be maintained without recourse to appeasement. Appeasement does not contribute to peace, but adjustments in practical affairs mean compromise. The alternative to some compromise solution in Europe is two great blocs facing each other in suspicion, each madly arming with a third World War in the shadows."

Suspensions are dragon's teeth. If they're cultivated they will of a certainty produce a crop of fighting men, fully armed and eager for battle. This doesn't mean that we are denied our suspicions, but it does mean that we should treat them rationally.

Certainly there are plenty of grounds for uncomfortable thoughts which are more than suspicions. For example, we see Europe being divided up into spheres of influence. We see Russia reaching out to gain greater domination than Hitler ever held. Those aren't suspicions, but facts.

Where a lot of people go wrong is in believing that there necessarily must be another war fought over the Soviet extension of influence.

The first thing we have to recognize is that, with the disappearance of both Germany and Italy as great power, the extension of Russia's zone of influence is a logical corollary we dislike intensely, but it still is logical. Every great power has its zone of influence, if you stop and check up.

So we don't have to go to war over zones of influence as thus far constituted. That doesn't mean that we have to take any rough stuff lying down. As Bishop Oxnam says, we don't have to use appeasement—"but ad-mean compromise." And as Eden justments in practical affairs remarks "we need cool, calm and understanding leadership."

There are more ways of dealing with over-ambition than by using a gun.

It is with no feeling of undue optimism that your columnist repeats his theme song: "War is not inevitable." However, we have grim months ahead—as witness British Foreign Secretary Bevin's statement in the house of commons yesterday that hunger and privation in Europe may bring "a further prolific human loss more devastating than the gun or atomic bomb."

That suffering is likely to add to the political difficulties. But we shall come through all right if we don't lose our cuds.

EARLY ORDERS SAFE ON RED CLOVER SEED

Government estimates on red clover seed production indicate that Ohio farmers should put in early orders if they want locally grown seed, which Ohio State University agronomists say is best adapted for this state. The U. S. red clover seed crop is larger this year than last but Ohio production is down.

The crop estimate on October 1 put Ohio 1945 red clover seed production at 190,000 bushels, as compared with a crop of 237,000 bushels in 1944. Reserve stocks of clover and alfalfa seeds have been badly depleted so there is not likely to be any surplus anywhere of those legume seeds.

SEED PAYMENTS TO DISCONTINUE ON DECEMBER 31

Poundage Payment Is Made On Clean Seed Basis To Farmers

The AAA poundage payment of three and one-half cents a pound on red clover and two and one-half cents a pound on alfalfa and alsike seed will not be made to otherwise eligible farmers who sell such seeds after December 31, it was announced today.

This poundage payment will be made on a clean seed basis to farmers, who sell such seeds to a dealer before January 1, 1946, and who are eligible to receive a payment under the 1945 AAA program by reason of their having signed a farm plan before June 1, 1945, or within 30 days of the date thereafter upon which they acquired an interest in a farm as a landlord, tenant or share cropper.

The acreage payment of $3.50 per acre is still in effect for the 1945 crop year, on all the acreage of red or alsike clover or alfalfa harvested for seed and yielding one half bushel or more of cleaned seed per acre, it was explained.

Farmers are urged to get their limestone orders in and deliveries made as soon as possible, while weather conditions permit.

Many Fayette County farmers are quite familiar with silage and its value in the feeding of cattle. It would seem that silage is equally valuable in feeding lambs for market.

The Bureau of Animal Industry has just released a report on the imports of breeding sheep for the fiscal year of 1944-1945. This shows that there were 2,127 Suffolk imported as breeding stock. The nearest to this number was the Southdown with 226.

Here is an interesting note picked up recently. We are passing it on to you. We have never tried it but authorities claim the method is successful. It is a system for taking care of fighting rams. Hang a heavy cow bell on the two pugilists on a loose strap, check to see that the bottom of the bell will not cut the chin. The bell need not have a clapper in it.

The Shepherd's Club again sponsored a competent judge to pass on rams sold at the ram and ewe sale held at the Producers last Friday. This program seems to be well received by the farmer customers.

The results of the lamb pool of Friday were as follows:

Blues, $16; Reds, $15.50; Yellows, $15.00.

There were over 1,200 lambs consigned to the sale. The largest consignors were the Rolfe brothers of Sabina and Newberry of near Leesburg. The largest lamb pool of the season. Top lambs weighed 100 pounds.

FEDERAL BUYING MAY HELP POTATO PRICES

Crops estimates up to October 1 indicated a vigorous government price support program would be required to prevent the price of potatoes from sagging badly, as rural economists report that marketing trouble usually has followed any potato crop exceeding 400,000,000 bushels and the 1945 production is estimated at 435,000,000 bushels.

The economists say that the government already had bought 4,500,000 bushels of potatoes by October 15. These potatoes were purchased in eastern and southeastern states. Federal officials announce that potatoes bought by the government to support the market will be used in school lunches, for industrial purposes, or in other ways that take them out of direct market channels.

September weather improved Ohio's potato prospects by 315,000 bushels. Ohio producers ordinarily have less difficulty selling their potatoes than growers have who live in states which produce a big surplus of potatoes. Ohio does not produce nearly enough potatoes to feed the people within the state.

On the Farm

was going over the farm to see if everything was all right, when he discovered a wounded rat, and without hesitation jumped on it and soon killed it. About that time Fannie, his mother came up, and looked at her son in open mouthed astonishment, for he had killed a very large rat. She evidently wanted to show it to Vick, her husband, for she grabbed it and started for the barn, with Abe hanging on at the other end of the rat. It was quite a tussle for Fannie, but she took both Abe and the rat into the barnyard and showed them to Vick. He smiled his approval and went on hunting other rats.

Is it any wonder that the rat population at our house is decreasing. All Fannie and her fine family need is some more time and they'll reduce the numbers even more than they have, but I doubt very much if they will ever exterminate them, for they are well established. (Here is a secret that you don't need to tell anyone about. We have good reason to believe that Vick and Fannie are going to have an addition to their family very soon. I guess I should have said "additions to the family, for in their species, quadruplets are the usual thing. Now don't tell anyone about this, for it is a secret.)

THE JOHN I. VANE BEEF CATTLE—That's the way neighbors and friends refer to the herd of polled Hereford cattle on the John I. Vane farm, Winchester, Ohio, R.F.D.

CLASS TRIP—Last spring I had the pleasure of taking a class in vocational agriculture to see this farm, and the fine herd of cattle on it. Many of the cattle were big and the grass was big. It went into the winter with plenty of cover on it and a good supply of commercial fertilizer and lime. Mr. Vane doesn't graze as closely as some farmers, but still he carries a lot of livestock. He believes in using fertilizer generously on his pastures, and in getting most of the manure back on them, and in the fall of the year, if this is possible.

PUREBRED CATTLE — The cattle on this farm are good individuals—very good—good enough to meet keen competition in any show.

A Shorthorn-Hereford cross is sometimes used. It is a good cross for the cattle are early maturing and feed out well at long yearlings.

READY TO RETIRE—Mr. Vane worked hard all his life and he and his good wife said they were about ready to retire. The farm sold since our visit, so they can soon begin doing less work than they are accustomed to doing. We are very sincere in wishing them many more happy years together, in the evening of life, and when their work is finished, and the sun of their lives goes down, we hope they won't be separated too long.

Thanks for the time you gave us and for the many courtesies you showed us. We learned a lot on the trip, that will be of great value through the years.

BAILING WHEAT STRAW IN THE FIELD—I recently saw that in Clinton County. A large field had been combined, very high, so there was a lot of straw on the ground, that the pick-up bailer was doing a good job of picking up.

Farm crops specialists and observing farmers are agreed that this is a good farm practice, if the wheat straw is mowed as soon as it is possible to cut it, picked up promptly, and taken off the young clover, trying to get a start. I passed this field about three weeks later and the clover was about six inches high and as level as a floor. It will be well established by the time winter comes, and have its own cover to protect it, from alternate freezing and thawing.

Only a few years ago it was thought best to leave the wheat straw on the field as a protection for the young clover and timothy seeding, sowed in the wheat, but we know now that you get much better results in getting a good grass stand if you cut it, just as soon as you can after you combine the wheat and get it off of the field. Then this combined straw makes very good bedding and soon finds its way back to the land.

Farmers with a good supply of bedding on hand are liberal bedders, and that is a good farm practice, for it enables them to conserve much of the liquid portion of the manure, and over half of its fertilizing value is in the liquid portion, and is lost unless one is a liberal bedder.

WANT A JEEP? 9,100 OFFERED CONDITIONALLY

Federal, State and Local Agencies and War Veterans Can Buy Them

War veterans in this community who are interested in buying a new or used jeep now have one of the first opportunities, as Uncle Sam is offering 9,100 to those who want them. And it is a "first come, first served" proposition.

Those in Ohio who want to obtain a jeep must write to the Department of Commerce, Office of Surplus Property, 704 Race Street, Cincinnati, (2) Ohio.

Here is the complete information as issued by the above OSP office:

A nationwide sale of 9,100 new and used jeeps to Federal agencies, state and local governments, with orders to be accepted up until midnight November 6, was announced Friday by the Office of Surplus Property, Department of Commerce.

This will be the first peace-time sale of the popular military vehicles known officially as the command reconnaissance one-quarter-ton truck.

The total to be sold includes 3,000 new or rebuilt jeeps, some in their original factory shipping crates.

The sale will get under way through the II regional offices of OSP as soon as the available vehicles in each area have been processed for sale.

OSP states that the jeeps will be sold on an "as is" and "where is" basis.

Prospective purchasers, OSP said, will have until November 6 to submit their orders to the Regional offices, which will turn them over to the Washington home office for allocation among the priority claimants.

Orders to the regional offices must be forwarded not later than midnight November 6. All vehicles, new and old, will have an OPA ceiling price. Under priorities established by law, Federal agencies will have first claim on the jeeps with states, counties and cities falling next in line. Honorably discharged veterans are eligible through applications approved by Smaller War Plants Corporation and will have next priority to purchase.

OSP pointed out that a veteran will be eligible to purchase a vehicle if he intends to use it in his business to make a livelihood, such as a salesman's car.

POULTRYMEN TOLD OF WARTIME CHANGE

Consumption Greater in War Than in Peace

Time out to check signals for the next few plays in the poultry industry is recommended to Ohio poultrymen by specialists in farm management, who believe that it sometimes is better to concentrate on defense after a touchdown has been scored than to risk fumbling the ball while trying to increase the score with intricate plays.

Between poultrymen and the goal of continued profits, they point out 44,000,000 turkeys and 808,000,000 chickens raised in 1945. The year's production of turkeys is the greatest on record, and poultrymen have produced more chickens only in the single year 1943. The prices of chickens, turkeys, and eggs have been above the government protected levels for the past three years.

The specialists remark that the per capita consumption of chicken and turkey meat has been considerably changed by war conditions. The average consumption in 1945 will be 372 eggs, 21.5 pounds of chicken, and 3.5 pounds of turkey per person. The number of eggs and the amount of turkey is the highest on record, and consumption of chicken has been exceeded in only one other year.

37 W. C. T. U. Members Attend Friday Session

The Washington C. H. WCTU advocated at their Friday afternoon meeting they should be more alert to the serious problems confronting them, realizing the moderate drinker tends to become the habitual drinker, the habitual drinker into an excessive drinker and the excessive drinker to the true addict.

Friday afternoon's October session was held at the home of Miss Cordelia McCafferty and was attended by 37 members and guests. Mrs. John Case, president, opened the meeting with prayer.

During their business session, WCTU members voted to donate $10 to the National War Fund. It was suggested that Miss Icy Allen, deceased, be made a memorial member of the WCTU.

After the singing of a hymn, Mrs. Mabel Blessing gave scripture and prayer. Several different members then read articles relative to the topic "Temperance."

At the close of the meeting group singing and the benediction adjourned the session. Those assisting Miss McCafferty when she served seasonal refreshments were Mrs. Mabel French, Mrs. Arthur Finley, Mrs. W. J. Hilty, Mrs. Arch O. Riber and Mrs. Glenn Woodmansee.

The American Legion Auxiliary, Gold Star Unit 474, of Jeffersonville, held their October meeting at the Legion Hall.

The new president, Mrs. Charles Seibert, conducted a short business meeting. A rummage sale was planned to be held November 10 at the legion hall.

New members present were Mrs. Blanche Plesier, Mrs. Helen Coil and daughter, Miss Betty Jean Coil.

Following the meeting the members of the American Legion were guests of the auxiliary for a social hour in honor of the newly elected officers. Refreshments were served by members of the auxiliary.

become identified with the char-acter of Andy Hardy for mil-lions of moviegoers everywhere, carries on the role of the adol-escent Andy in a topnotch char-acterization. Bonita Granville and Herbert Marshall, newcomers to the series, do a fine job of sup-plying a new twist to the plot.

"Song of Russia" is a vivid picture of present day Russia and will help American audiences to a better understanding of the Russian people to better explain their heroic fight against the Nazis. Robert Taylor and Susan Peters are co-starred in the film which spotlights romance and music, rather than war.

In the role of Taylor's man-ager Robert Benchley's sly humor brightens up the screen when-ever he is about. John Hodiak, moviedom's latest sensation, shows his mettle as the Russian farmer and fighter. It is sched-uled to be shown at the Palace on Wednesday and Thursday.

The latest in the new western series, starring Johnny Mack Brown, "Stranger from Santa Fe," will be shown at the Palace Theater on Friday and Saturday. This renowned cowboy will be seen in the familiar role of a U. S. marshal in a thrilling story of range rustlers and killers who reign over the highways and ranchlands. Leading feminine role is enacted by Beatrice Gray, and in the supporting cast are Jo Ann Curtis, Jimmie Martin, Jack In-gram, John Martin, Tom Quinn, Bud Osborne, Hal Price, Steve Clark and Jack Rockwell.

FAYETTE THEATER
The lavish musical "George White's Scandals" which is to be shown on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fayette Theater, stars Joan Davis and Jack Haley in a zany romance which goes on the rocks when Haley is domi-nated by his austere spinster sis-ter. Melody is furnished by Gene Krupa and his band, the nation's Number One drummer displaying his amazing virtuosity on the drums. Furthermore, the little man proves himself to be no slouch as an actor. Beauty there is in abundance. George White rounded up the cream of Holly-wood's pulchritude resources for a lavish ensemble. In the featured cast are Phillip Terry, Martha Holliday, Glenn Tryon, Margaret Hamilton, Bette-Jane Greer, and the famed electric organist, Ethel Smith.

A double helping of Danny Kaye is the dish prepared for movie fans which will be shown Wednesday and Saturday at the Fayette Theater in "Wonder Man." Danny Kaye plays a dual role in which customers get two Kayes for the price of one. The two characters played by Kaye are exact opposites. One is Buzzy Bel-lue, a brash night club actor of the Broadway sector with a line of mile-a-minute patter, and Edwin Dingle, a pipsqueak scholar with a prodigious memory and a vast fund of useless information, which he puts out in tongue-twisting polysyllables. Virginia Mayo carries the romance opposite the timid Edwin, while Vera-Ellen, high-voltage dancer on the New York stage, plays Buzzy Bel-lue's girl.

"Wild Bill" Elliott in "The San Antonio Kid," is to be shown on Friday and Saturday at the State Theater along with chap-ter six of "The Jungle Queen." "She Snoops to Conquer" starring Vera Vague is the comedy to be shown in the two days.

PALACE THEATER
Andy Hardy goes to college in "Andy Hardy's Blonde Trouble," which will be shown at the Pal-ace Theater on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, fourteenth in the popular Hardy family series. As usual, Andy has his troubles with coeds—all three of them are Bonita Granville, whose star is rapidly rising in the film firmam-ent, and the beautiful and tal-ented Wilde twins. In addition to the Hardy family favorites, who include Lewis Stone, Faye Hol-den and Sara Haden, the new picture introduces Herbert Mar-shall, Keye Luke and Jean Por-ter. Mickey Rooney, who has

Experiences of Washington C. H. Soldier in Months of Combat in Europe Now Can Be Told

(Editor's Note: Here is one of a series of articles written especially for the Record-Herald by M-Sgt. Robert Minshall of Washington C. H., from notes kept during months of frontline combat. Released for publication fol-lowing the lifting of the wartime press censorship. The wife and little daugh-ter, Kay, of the Third Armored (Spearhead) Division soldier have been living here. Sgt. Minshall lately has been stationed at Stuttgart, Germany.)

By M-Sgt. Bob Minshall

Landing overseas 14 months ago, my sincere intention of writing frontline news from up front for the Record-Herald bog-ged down when the Third Arm-ored Division started its spear-head drive, enveloped in a news censorship blackout after the breakthrough at St. Lo.

But now that both VE and VJ Days have come along, there is breathing time—time to think while waiting for some New York bound ship to come along, and time to tell you about how your son, husband, brother or sweet-heart performed in battle and the little things that he very likely will not soon want to talk about once he arrives home and begins the conversion of leaving behind him the mask of a fighting Amer-ican soldier and takes up again where he left off as a peace-lov-ing American citizen months ago. I want to tell you too why he's coming home with just one leg, one arm, with great scars from head to foot, why he stumbles up the front steps because he cannot see, or in those most un-pleasant cases—why he isn't coming back at all.

In my opinion, although sol-diers returning from World War II will seem fairly quiet about their experiences in combat, you will find that they will tell you

WE THANK THEE LORD FOR VICTORY DAY

Peace now encircles all the globe;
War no longer takes its toll;
Thy hand has guided us, O Lord,
Helped us to our hard fought goal;

Be with us still in coming years—
Direct and guard our paths of Peace;

Let nations live the golden rule—
Ties of friendship still increase;
Be with each one in all the world
Show each one the way to Thee,
So that Thy kingdom here on earth,
May be as you would have it be.

YOUTH, THE HOPE OF HUMANITY

When sturdy youth goes marching by
New hope is born for men;
With purpose high and kingly stride
They'll build with hand and pen.

They'll bridge the generations past
With those that are to be;
And fill the span where tide flows in
From out life's human sea.

With searching eyes youth looks afar
To shining heights—the goal;
With flaming zeal and hopeful hearts
They conquer tides and shoal.

Through all the preparation years
They forge their onward way;
Unmoved by trials or by fears
They wait the crowning day.

The vision of a happy home—
A light-house on time's shore
Inspires the young and noble heart
Sustains forever more.

The ever widening fields of life
Calls for their strength and zeal;
Their church and country raise their voice
For powers that they can wield.

And thus the ebb and flow of life
The aged pass away;
But youth's advance like roseate morn
Perpetuates life's day.

FAYETTE COUNTY'S DRAFT BOARD HAS RESIGNED

DECLINES TO MEET DEMANDS OF COL. GOBLE

Chief Clerk's Resignation Also Effective As Of Friday

The Fayette County Selective Service Board has tendered its resignation.

This action was taken Friday afternoon at a special meeting of the board, and announcement made at 10 A.M. Saturday, when a letter addressed to Col. C. G. Goble, state director of selective service, was made public.

The board recently refused to induct additional men into the military service until the government takes steps to stop the strikes that have been paralyzing industry and working great hardship upon the citizenry.

In addition to the letter from Goble making certain demands, two officers from the State Selective Service Board spent some time with the board Wednesday afternoon of this week.

While the demands made by Goble were not given out here, from Columbus came the word that the demand was that the board resume induction of young men without further delay.

This board refused to do, and the letter of resignation was drafted and forwarded late Friday.

Board members refused to augment the letter with any further information, simply stating that the "letter speaks for itself, and there is no comment necessary."

No request had been made for resignation of the board, it was made clear, so that the action is purely voluntary, and upon acceptance by the State Selective Service Director, leaves the county without a Selective Service Board until successors of the present board are selected and enter upon their duties.

In addition to the resignation of the board, consisting of Howard D. Fogle, chairman, Arch O. Riber, Stewart B. Smith, L. M. Hayes and Ray Maynard, the board is also without a chief clerk until one is named, inasmuch as Miss Lorie Robinson, who has held the position so competently since soon after the Selective Service Board was organized here, has made her resignation effective Oct. 26, instead of Nov. 3, as first announced.

However, Miss Robinson was in the office Saturday, pending action to fill the position.

Since the Selective Service Board here took its stand against further inductions as a result of the government failing to take steps to end the strike, the matter has been carried throughout the nation and in some of the foreign countries, and has been the subject of a great deal of controversy, with, apparently, a great majority of people supporting the stand of the board.

As an indication of this, letters commending the board are still pouring in.

The letter to Col. Goble, made public Saturday follows:

"Your letter of October 24, 1945, together with letter from General Hershey of National Headquarters dated October 20, 1945 received and discussed by this board. Our decision in notice dated October 10, 1945 remains the same.

"We have no quarrel with the Selective Service System, but we feel very deeply that in all fairness to those who have served, are serving or may serve, we cannot conscientiously induct more men into the armed forces while those who have been deferred during the entire war are allowed to strike.

"We sincerely hope that public opinion will be molded into so much of a desire for justice, that action will be forced upon the lawmakers of these United States to enact legislation necessary to the accommodation of management and labor.

"Therefore we, the undersigned members of Selective Service Board No. 1 for Fayette County, Ohio, hereby tender our resignations, effective this, the 26th day of October, 1945."

WARNING AGAINST VANDALISM HERE

Extra Police Will Assist On Hallowe'en

A warning against vandalism by those celebrating Hallowe'en, and a request to refrain from soaping windows in pre-Hallowe'en activities, came from City Manager W. L. Stambaugh and Police Chief Vaiden Long, Saturday.

It was also announced that extra police will be on duty during Hallowe'en, not to interfere with clean celebrating, but to pick up those guilty of vandalism. The request is for all celebrators to respect the rights and property of others.

Theft of red lanterns from dangerous places in the streets and alleys where work is under way, has been reported, and this is not only theft, but removes safeguards that might result seriously to persons traveling the streets and alleys after night-fall, it is pointed out.

FIRST NEW CAR DRAWS RECORD NUMBERS HERE

New Ford on Display Has 20 Changes from Pre-war Models Produced

The first new post-war automobile reaching this city was a Ford Tudor, received Friday by the Carroll Halliday Motor Sales and its unprecedented reception here indicates the deep interest of the public in new automobiles.

Halliday said Saturday that the number flocking to his sales rooms on North Fayette Street exceeded all other crowds during the 17 years he has been engaged in the automobile business in Washington C. H., and that salesmen were kept busy from early Friday morning until 10 P. M.

He also stated that more orders for the new cars were taken than at any previous showing of new models.

The Ford now has cars in production and Halliday expects to receive cars frequently, with an ever increasing number as the plant gets into high gear.

So far no price has been quoted on the new car, awaiting establishment of a ceiling price by the OPA, but this is not preventing the taking of a record number of orders.

The new car is a beauty, it was generally conceded, and represents 20 new refinements, or changes over the last model produced by the Ford company. It is resplendent in chromium and luxuriously equipped for easy riding. The car will remain here.

While production of the Fords is now under way and will continue at an ever increasing pace to meet the tremendous demand for new cars, production of Lincoln and Mercury cars, delayed because of strikes in plants of major Ford Motor Company suppliers, will begin before the end of the year—providing there are no further production interruptions due to strikes, J. R. Davis, director of sales, said Saturday.

Work on the Mercury assembly line at Dearborn, and the Lincoln line in the Lincoln plant, Detroit, now is being rushed to completion.

"We had hoped," Davis said, "to have Lincolns and Mercurys in production soon after Fords. The labor situation, however, has been so unpredictable that it has been impossible to carry out our re-tooling and general reconversion program on schedule. So, barring further interruptions, Mercurys should be in production shortly after the public showing of the 1946 Fords, and Lincolns should roll off the assembly line a few weeks later."

KELLY, HAGLER CONDITION GOOD DOCTOR REPORTS

Two Boys in Accident on Way to London Football Game

Dick Kelly and Roy Hagler today were in what was described as a "good general condition" at St. Francis Hospital, Columbus, after an automobile accident which happened shortly after 8 P. M. Friday as the two were on their way to the Blue Lion football game at London.

Kelly, only recently discharged from the army, is a veteran of months of bloody combat in Europe. He was not injured during his combat duty with the army.

A doctor at St. Francis Hospital said both young men suffered slight concussions and sprained shoulders but described their general condition as good. "Unless something unforeseen happens, both boys will be out of here in a few days with nothing more than a few bruises and a headache now and then," the doctor said. He added neither had suffered a fractured skull.

Kelly, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Kelly, 216 West Elm Street, and Hagler, the son of Mr. Jesse Hagler of the Lewis Road, struck a telephone pole just beyond a curve two miles from London.

Chester Brown, Jr., 1014 South Hinde Street, said he and Bill Willis found them and Hagler's Ford convertible about five minutes after the accident happened. Hagler was lying in a ditch with a blanket wrapped around him and Kelly was unconscious beside the car, Brown said.

After failing to get an ambulance, Brown and Willis took them to London in an attempt to get medical care for them, Brown said. When they failed to get a doctor, they sent them in an ambulance to St. Francis Hospital, Columbus, he added.

Discussing the injuries, Brown said apparently Hagler was cut above his hairline and that Kelly bled at his mouth and complained of his back hurting him.

Mrs. Kelly remained at the hospital Friday night.

The top of the car was damaged. The telephone pole was broken off.

Over 1,000 people were entertained at Hallowe'en carnivals held at the Jeffersonville and Olive Schools Friday night. The Junior Class sponsored the Jeffersonville three-way carnival while the P-TA backed the Olive observance.

Olive school was richer by $350 after their carnival Friday night. Attended by 500 who ate their fill of sandwiches, cider and soft drinks and had fun playing all the games ready for them.

Willard Williamson and Miss Mary Mongold won prizes in the cake walk while costume prizes went to Charlene Eakins, most original; Richard and Willard Syferd, ugliest couple; Donald Eakins, ugliest and Daisy Taylor, prettiest.

These $350 profits will be used primarily for kitchen equipment, Mrs. L. P. Brackney, the principal, said.

500 At Jeffersonville

Jeffersonville's carnival was a three-way one—the carnival itself with the concessions in the school garage, the minstrel show directed by Mrs. Mary Jean Schwaigert in the auditorium and two basketball games in the gymnasium.

The carnival included a cake walk and other games for which prizes were awarded and numerous refreshment stands; the minstrel included special dance and song numbers plus the traditional end men and their jokes.

The athletic show in the auditorium featured an alumni-varsity game with the alumni as victors and a game between senior and sophomore girls which the seniors won.

Miss Rowena Graham, in charge of the carnival, did not disclose the profits made at the carnival.

Information Center Plans Wait on Commission

A pamphlet telling discharged servicemen what services are available for them soon will be distributed at the draft board and at the Veterans Information Center in the USES office here.

The pamphlet and a chart of the same services were discussed at a meeting of the veterans' information and rehabilitation committee at the Chamber of Commerce Friday afternoon.

While the Veterans' Information Center has been operating, the final set-up necessarily must wait until the five-man Soldiers' Relief Commission is named and the commission in turn names its veterans' service officer.

Attending the meeting Friday were L. M. Hays, Earl Snyder, Miss Mary D. Robinson and Ward Miller.
